

The night is never complete.

Paul Eluard

The night is never complete
There is always, as I say
As I stated
After grief an open window
A lighted window
There is always a dream before,
Desire to satisfy, hunger to fill,
A generous heart
A helping hand, an open hand,
An attentive eye
A life, life to share.